

Dufry celebrates Christmas under the stars.

Tis the season of Christmas parties, and one of the most delightful had to be the -open-air affair held by Milly and Richard Lacle for the employees of their twelve Dufry shops around the island and in the airport, this past Saturday night.

Lily Does, Sales and Marketing Manager also moonlighted as hostess and Mistress of Ceremonies for such time honored traditions as the Christmas Raffle, where employees received fabulous prizes like dinners for two at local restaurants, weekend stays, various excursions and holiday baskets loaded with goodies. The lucky Carmelita took home a brand new cellular phone from Digicel.

Milly and Richard also had to compliment Lily on the terrific job of arranging the event at the Sunset Beach Bistro of the Divi Phoenix Resort. This was a Christmas party that made the most of what Aruba has to offer, being on the beach, under a bright half moon and a sky full of stars. One hundred employees and spouses kicked up their heels and feasted on a fabulous buffet that included not only shrimp, sushi, and a carving station, but the traditional Christmas Ayaca as well.

During the evening, some of the great and comical moments that have marked an excellent year for the Dufry shops, purveyors of fine fragrances and cosmetics, were played on a screen set up on the beach. It was highly entertaining, and employees got a good laugh from seeing themselves up on the big screen. Even though everyone was dressed in their holiday best, being outdoors on the beach lent a relaxed air to the affair as all the personnel cut loose and danced until the wee hours of the morning.
